To whom it may concern:

As residents/taxpayers, we fully support Pennsylvania to join the Regional Greenhouse Gas Initiative. We are the only state in this region that is not participating and this is a major concern. This is an environmental, health and economic issue that Pennsylvania is lagging behind other states and federal government to meet needed target goals. PA must pull its weight in this effort.

Many municipalities and cities in PA such as mine have clean energy ordinances and resolutions with energy transition plans to renewable energy. In order to ensure that this is viable we need supportive state programs, laws and regulations such as RGGI. The state needs to support local initiatives for clean energy in all respects.

Thank you for your consideration for support for PA joining RGGI.

Sincerely,

Alexa and Kevin Manning
