I most strongly support these proposed regulations. They will take a step toward ensuring that charter schools are equitably and inclusively educating all students.

A standardized application and publicly-posted policies for the random selection of students if more students apply than the number of attendance slots available will create transparency and help prevent unethical practices in charter school admissions. Requiring charters to be held to the same financial and auditing standards as school districts will limit opportunities for bad players in the charter school industry to enrich themselves with tax dollars that were intended to be spent educating Pennsylvania's children.

Sincerely,
Elisabeth Turchi
